

BMW ULF Hands-Free Phone System

While Bluetooth® technology is a global standard, not all available handsets have been tested with the BMW ULF System. The following list of recommended phones will be updated as new phones are tested and approved. Functions such as synchronizing the address book, and transferring a call in or out of the vehicle may function differently from phone to phone. This list is provided for reference only. BMW does not guarantee availability or functionality with each wireless carrier. Please check with your local wireless carrier for more information on cellular handsets with Bluetooth wireless technology offered in your area.
